

Roshana May

Principal, Roshana May Lawyer

Roshana has over 35 years' experience in both private and public sector roles as a personal injury lawyer with a particular focus on the NSW statutory compensation schemes. Currently working as a consultant, her most recent public sector role was as Director, Policy Strategy and Support following 3 years as the Director ILARS at the Independent Review Office (formerly WIRO). She is a recognised subject matter expert in workers compensation law and practice. She has a keen interest in workers compensation policy formulation and has represented the legal profession in numerous reform and change processes in the NSW workers compensation and CTP insurance schemes. Roshana is a member of the Injury Compensation and Specialist Accreditation Personal Injury Advisory Committees of the Law Society of NSW and NSW Director of the Australian Lawyers Alliance.

THE LAW SOCIETY OF NEW SOUTH WALES