About Claire Linwood

Claire Linwood works closely with product and engineering teams across LexisNexis Asia & Pacific to build and deliver products that meet the needs of legal and compliance professionals throughout the region.

Prior to moving into product management, Claire practised as a solicitor in the Specialised Prosecutions Unit of the NSW Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions and worked as a Tipstaff in the Common Law Division of the Supreme Court of NSW.

Since joining LexisNexis in 2019, Claire has had a particular interest in AI-driven innovation and the application of emerging technologies to the practice of law.
